PARENTS HEAR EXPERT ADVICE

TALK VERY HELPFUL

INSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM FOR INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL'S P.-T. A. MEMBERS

The Intermediate P.-T. A. held the third meeting of the year, yesterday afternoon, in the auditorium of the school building.

Miss Tyler took the platform, holding the flag, as she led in the salute, after which the president, Mrs. H. V. Brown, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, of Pasadena, vice-president of the National Congress of Mothers, who brought greetings from the national convention. She then gave a highly interesting and helpful address on "Co-operation of the Children in the Home." She said that to the mothers of the children belongs, almost entirely, the responsibility of the child up to the age of 5 years, and when the child starts to school, the teacher can tell from what kind of a home he comes and whether he has been trained to obey, to be respectful and to be neat.

She said the father and mother should be companions to the child in his sport, and in his work. All in the home should operate together to make it beautiful and successful.

Instinct Is to Help

The natural instinct of the child is to want to help, and he should be allowed to be useful. In the beginning sometimes his attempts may be taxing to the mother's patience, but he should never be pushed aside with the suggestion that he is in her way, but must be encouraged to do his little part.

Mrs. Hamilton, speaking from experience, having raised five children of her own, says the parent is likely to fail, in doing too much for her child—that development comes through having regular work to do and daily responsibilities to assume. She said:

"Give them hard things to do. It is a blessing to learn to work; a wrong is done to himself and the

Offer Prize for Best Design Submitted for Pasadena Float

COMMITTEE FIXES RULES IN CONTEST

CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS PUT ON DESIGNERS; AWARD OF $10 FOR WINNER

Appropriate designs for the proposed float representing Glendale in the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena on New Year's day are wanted by the committee in charge of arranging for the float.

And to encourage residents of Glendale to send in suggestions, the committee today authorizes The Evening News to announce that a prize of $10 in cash will be given to the person submitting the design best suited for the float.

If you intend to submit a design, get this: All designs must be in the hands of the secretary of the committee, Miss Eva Daniels, 324 West Colorado street, on or before Saturday, December 18, at 5 p. m.

Prospective contestants must understand that no float may be over fifteen feet in height. That is the limit. There must be no artificial flowers or bunting. This is to be strictly a floral float.

No advertising, such as painted signs, will be permitted, although the word Glendale, or any civic statement, may be worked out in flowers that is not an advertising proposition.

The originality of the design will be the first point. Adaptability to Glendale, that is the appropriateness, and practicability of working out the design at this time of year will all be taken into consideration when the committee makes their decision.

The committee has offered $10 cash prize for the design best suited for this float. Remember, designs must be in the hands of the secretary by next Saturday, December 18, at 5 p. m. The secretary is Miss Eva Daniels, '24 West Colorado street. Her telephone is Glendale 911-M.

Here's Story to Prove That Float in Parade Will Boost Glendale

Thomas G. Widmeyre, automobile dealer of 207 North Brand boulevard, says it does; and as a reason for the faith that is in him he tells this story:

Last summer while on a vacation trip Mr. and Mrs. Widmeyre visited the navy yard at Bremerton, Washington, where they were guests on the battleship New Mexico, and were introduced to the lieutenant-commander as residents of Glendale.

The lieutenant-commander delighted them by saying that he had heard much of Glendale, and that he had seen its prize-winning float in the Tournament of Roses parade last New Year's Day. Then he launched forth into an accurate description of the float which seemed to have impressed him strongly. He asked the Widmeyres many questions about Glendale, and, of course, they were much pleased to find their city famed abroad. Mr. Widmeyre says undoubtedly there were many others who witnessed the parade who bore away with them an equally favorable impression of Glendale made by the beautiful municipal float which won the first prize in its class.

Monte Vista Lodge for Little Children

Monte Vista lodge, up in the Verdugo mountains, is to be converted into one of the most important places in the world: a place where undernourished little children, future citizens of the republic, will be fostered and cherished and brought to the full physical development that is their birthright.

This plan is being developed under the direction of the Council of Community Service of the state of California. It is a plan that will work for the good of all children in Los Angeles county who need the care of such a home. The city of Los Angeles has made the initial payment of $3,500 on the property and John Steven McGroarty and M. V. Hartranft have agreed to pay the $500 necessary for repair work.

All the Boy Scouts of the county, probably, will be privileged to take charge of the clearing up and beautifying of the grounds. Doubtless others will volunteer to do other necessary work, when the scope and importance of the undertaking becomes well known.

Mrs. R. W. Meeker of Glendale has interested herself in a very practical phase of the work—the equipment and furnishing of the kitchen. Already she has secured a fine range and a number of kitchen utensils. She says if each one of the various clubs and other organizations would give just one good, aluminum utensil, the kitchen would soon be equipped.

This kitchen will be conducted according to the most approved scientific methods of child-feeding. Due attention will be given to food values, proper amounts of food, palatability, and the individual needs of each child.

There are Glendale children who need this care—a fact that should emphasize our interest in this wise movement, although if there were not one child in Glendale to whom this service was necessary we ought still to give it our helpful attention; for anything that benefits future citizens of our country should concern every patriotic citizen of the land, and claim his aid as far as he is able to give it.

The undernourished child cannot grow up to strong manhood or womanhood. He is more susceptible to disease—and he may infect others or he may become an expense to the state through dependency brought on by lack of strength to cope with circumstances. He is likely to be an unhappy, disgruntled mortal, prone to fall under the influence of agitators, or even to yield to criminal temptation, and in this case, again, he becomes an expense to the state.

It is pure selfishness, perhaps, but a selfishness of an exalted sort, to take care of these under-nourished little ones; it is cheaper and less wasteful of man-power to care for them now than to deal with their dependency later.

The work may be cleansed of even this exalted selfishness, however, if done in the love of Him who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these ye have done it unto Me."

SIXTEEN ARE INDICTED RESULT OF ALLEGED FRAUDS IN SALE OF PROPERTY IN CALIFORNIA

Officers of Idaho Concern Are Accused by United States Authorities; Over Three Millions Obtained Illegally, Is Charged

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Federal grand jury indictments against sixteen officers of the Daniel Hayes Company of Idaho, charging conspiracy to use the mails to defraud were announced today.

The indictments were returned October 24, but were kept secret until warrants had been served.

According to federal officers, officers of the company sold from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 worth of California land which they are alleged to have misrepresented.

STATE SECRETARY GROVES MAY RESIGN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—F. Ray Groves, state secretary of the democratic central committee, is to resign as a result of the recent indictment charging him with conspiracy to violate prohibition laws, it was reported today in political circles here. Groves, it became known, departed last night for San Francisco to confer with Democratic State Chairman Ewing. It is understood he will ask Ewing to approve the appointment of Pierson M. Hall, now first assistant state secretary, as acting state secretary in his stead. The action of Groves, it is said, is to be taken to save his party from any possible embarrassment which may grow out of the charges against him. Groves, his two brothers and a fourth man, recently were indicted in connection with the Southern California liquor scandal.

SENATOR HARDING GREETS POLITICIANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MARION, O., Dec. 14.—Practical politics crowded the League of Nations into the background today as President-elect Harding turned his attention to a list of political callers. Harding was also considering seriously the proposal of Colonel George Harvey for an association of nations in which members would be pledged to abstain from offensive warfare without a referendum of their peoples. Ex-President Wm. H. Taft will be the next chief justice of the supreme court, in the opinion of Harding's closest associates today.

DECLARES JAPAN WILL NOT GIVE UP CABLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GENEVA, Dec. 14.—Disarmament was the topic today before the League of Nations assembly. The assembly heard the report of the sixth commission on preliminary plans for world-wide reduction of naval and military strength.

The Japanese delegation in a statement declared "Japan will not yield the former German cable touching the island of Yap, over which Japan has a mandate."

"America might reduce her naval program and use the money to build her own cables," the Japanese press was quoted as saying.

SENATOR CALDER RECOMMENDS ARRESTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Wholesale prosecutions of employers and labor leaders guilty of conspiring to increase prices in the building trades, and government supervision of the coal industry were urged upon congress today. The recommendations were made in a report to the senate by Senator Calder, New York, chairman of the special committee on reconstruction and production, which has been investigating the housing situation for the past several months. The housing shortage is menacing industrial growth, public health and morals, the report said.

ANOTHER DROP IN PRICE OF HOGS TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Hogs slumped generally throughout the middle west today as farmers sold heavily. A feeling that corn would go to lower prices influenced heavy shipments. The slump today established new "lows" in several places as compared with four years ago. Prices were off generally from 25 to 50 cents.

CALLS PUBLIC MEETING TO TALK PLANS TO INSTALL SEWERAGE SYSTEM IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

Gathering to Be Held on Suggestion of Number of Property Holders That Proper Disposal Method Be Adopted by Glendale

Installation of a sewage disposal system for the entire business section of Glendale will be discussed at a public meeting to be held in the council room at the city hall tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock.

A number of the business men of Glendale, also property holders in the business section of the city, have expressed a desire that a sewage system be installed in that portion of Glendale.

The matter has been taken up with T. W. Watson, city manager, and other officials, with the result that the city manager laid the question before the board of trustees, together with the recommendation that a public meeting of those interested be called.

Proposed District Outlined

It is, at present, the plan to install the system in that portion of the business section fronting on Brand boulevard from Colorado street north to Wilson avenue—and such other sections of the business district in which property holders may decide to take action.

The board of trustees authorized City Manager Watson to call the public meeting for Wednesday night and it is requested that there be a large attendance in order that all interested may be acquainted with the proposed plans.

The following is the city manager's statement to the board of trustees on the subject:

"A number of the business men and property holders in the business district along Brand boulevard have expressed the desire that proceedings be taken for the installation of sewage disposal system for the entire business section.

Some Trouble Is Reported

"The cesspools in the most congested part of the business district have been giving some trouble of late and we have caused an investigation to be made to ascertain if any unsanitary condition exists by reason of the filling up and overflowing of these cesspools. We find that there has been no great amount of overflowing, but that in many instances the ground is thoroughly saturated with seepage from the cesspools. A number of these cesspools are located under buildings and have been covered and permits are being requested for the installation of cesspools in the parkways or alleys.

Public Meeting Tomorrow Night

"Inasmuch as the city is now in position to furnish plans and specifications whereby sewage disposal works may be installed in the business district, we would request authorization to call a meeting of the property holders interested in this matter for next Wednesday evening, December 15, 1920, in the council room at 7:45, in order that they may be made acquainted with these plans and have an opportunity to petition your honorable body to take the necessary proceedings for the installation of sewage disposal system in that portion of the business district fronting on Brand boulevard from Colorado street north to Wilson avenue and such other portions of the business district in which the property holders may care to take such action at this time."

Committee Chosen

The executives of the District Christian Endeavor union met at the Presbyterian church last night and elected officers of the general committee for the state convention, which will be held in Glendale next June. Those elected were: Counsellor, Rev. Cole; general chairman, Howard Brown; first vice-chairman, J. A. Newton; second vice-chairman, Will Richards; secretary, Josephine Rettburg; treasurer, James Cooper; chairman entertainment committee, Ethel Preston; chairman decorations, C. C. Stoler; chairman ushers, Henry Malone; chairman reception, Nancy St. Clair; chairman registration, Lowell Donnell. The first actual work for the convention will begin next Sunday, when a meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Reed Heustis Lucky

If Reed Heustis eats all the delectable things that fell to his lot at the opening of the Catholic Christmas bazaar last night, we shudder to think of his fate.

Five chickens and three pounds of home-made chocolates were the things Dame Fortune showered on him. Some one raised the cry of "'Taint fair," and there was talk of barring Mr. Heustis from the hall for the two remaining nights. Only on his promise of giving a chicken dinner tonight to the disgruntled ones were the rumblings of discontent quelled.

WEATHER FORECAST

Operetta Is Given

Children of the Sunday school of the Church of the Holy Family proved themselves capital little entertainers when they gave Jessie Gaynor's charming operetta, "The House That Jack Built," at the opening of the Christmas bazaar last evening.

Under the capable direction of Miss Ada Gies, who wisely selected a musical play whose characters were familiar friends of these little folks and whose music was bright, interesting and well within the range of childish voices, Mother Goose, the Knave of Hearts, Little Miss Muffet and more than twenty other universally known characters came back from our vanished childhood days and lived with us once more.

No movie star was ever more punctiliously particular about synchronizing the costumes for her historical play, and as a result there stood all the old favorites true to life, just as if they had stepped out of the colored pictures of your Mother Goose book!

The little play met with such favor that the young actors have been asked to repeat it at the Christmas party the Knights of Columbus will give the Sunday school on the day after Christmas.

NOTED FOOTBALL PLAYER DIES

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 14.—George Gipp, Notre Dame's great football player and hailed by coaches and experts as one of the best half backs in the country, lost a game three weeks' fight today when he died here of pneumonia. Gipp was 24 years old and was also credited with being the cleverest baseball player in the history of Notre Dame.

PLENTY WORK FOR LAWYERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—Fifteen prosecuting attorneys and five trial lawyers should be employed by the government to prosecute shipping board frauds, Martin J. Gillan, former executive assistant on the board, today recommended in a written report to the Walsh investigating committee.

WOMAN RECORDER RESIGNS

PLAINFIELD, N. J.—Miss Frances Haskard, New Jersey's only woman recorder, resigned after only one week's services. Too much notoriety is given as the reason.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Clayton Smith of 212 North Maryland avenue is spending several days with friends in Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Joseph, 201 Lexington drive, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown, 621 Lincoln avenue.

Mrs. Clara P. Reid has taken out a permit for the erection of a five-room residence and garage at 1419 East Maple street.

F. H. Anderson, real estate dealer in Montrose, leaves tomorrow on a pleasure trip to Baltimore, Maryland. He will be gone about six weeks. This is Mr. Anderson's first trip east in twelve years.

The high potentate of the Shriners, Ellis Lewis Garretson, Tacoma, Wash., was a guest of his cousin, Mrs. D. W. Hunt, 420 West Elk street, Monday, December 13, on his way to Santa Barbara.

The Women's Relief corps served dinner Saturday noon at the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue. Over one hundred were present. A social afternoon was enjoyed. Mrs. Tina Hammond and Mrs. Pearl Gillette were in charge.

Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Holcomb of Chicago, who have been the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hildreth, 217 Milford street, are going to Pasadena the latter part of the week, where they will make their home.

Miss Anita Wells of Baldwin, Florida, is in Glendale on a business trip. She was formerly a resident of this city for a number of years and is here looking after her property interests. Miss Wells is making her headquarters at Hotel Gray.

Miss Bess Wright of 446 West Maple street left Saturday for Beverly Hills, where she is engaged each winter as manager of the exclusive ready to wear shop maintained there by the J. W. Robinson company of Los Angeles.

The bazaar given last Friday in the basement of the Methodist church proved to be quite a success. Although the official figures of the amount cleared are not yet known, it is in the neighborhood of $500. The ladies of the church feel quite gratified with their day's work.

Orders for installation of electric light meters received at the public service department yesterday were as follows: J. M. McAlpine, 1233 East Orange Grove; J. M. Gibbs, 508 West Lexington drive; E. C. McKee, Colina drive; Royal Coffee Shoppe, 140 South Brand boulevard; A. A. Begley, 418 Salem street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gannaway of Spokane, Wash., were the mid-week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee, 345 North Belmont street, stopping off on their way to Phoenix, Ariz., where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. Sidney Barton, better known by her friends in Glendale as Genevieve Gannaway, over the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Wemyss of 924 East Windsor road is suffering from an attack of "flu." Anxiety was felt for her last week as pneumonia set in. The symptoms are, however, moderating, and although still very weak she is progressing favorably. Mr. Wemyss and the youngest daughter, Peggie, were also laid up, but both are now recovered.

Funeral services for Dr. David R. Dungan, who passed away suddenly last Friday evening at his home, 329 East Lomita avenue, will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Christian church, corner of Louise and Colorado streets. Four of Dr. Dungan's five sons are now in Glendale, and the fifth will arrive in Glendale from Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brown were hosts last Friday evening to the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church, entertaining them at their lovely new home, 406 North Maryland avenue. The short business session was presided over by the president, Stephen Fairchild. Lively games, piano solos and phonograph music were the diversions of the evening which was enjoyed by a jolly crowd of thirty or more young people. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Brown.

A delightful meeting of the Fortnightly Auction Bridge club was held Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. J. I. Wernette, 1330 North Louise street. Refreshments were served on a dining table having a beautiful center piece of large dark red roses. The living room was decorated in poinsettias. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayars, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Howeth, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Puffer and Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Wernette. High score for the evening was made by Mrs. H. G. Howeth and Mr. Sawyer.

A report was received at the police department yesterday from Mrs. C. W. Hanson, 340 West Vine street, saying that she had left home at 8:30 in the morning and upon returning at 3:30 in the afternoon found that her house had been entered by someone having a pass key. So far, two gold watches and $20 have been missed. The lady living the first door west saw a young man about five feet six inches tall, smooth shaven, sallow face, pointed features, wearing a gray cap and blue suit entering the house at about 11 o'clock and leaving at 11:30.

MAKES PROTEST

J. DOYLE PORTER OBJECTS TO PROPOSED OPENING OF COMMERCIAL STREET

Editor The Evening News:—Published in your paper of December 3, 1920, were the proceedings of the city trustees relative to the opening of what will be known as Commercial street, 120 feet wide, extending from West Broadway northwest to San Fernando road.

We would like to ask who are the Greater Glendale Improvement club, and whose fertile brain conceived and worked out this plan? What is the object? Is it some party or parties who have a tract of land that they wish to exploit for commercial purposes?

The statement in your paper said no estimate of the probable cost could be given. Will the trustees of the city of Glendale ignore a long list of the property owners who have protested against this improvement and burden the owners of homes without first making an estimate of its cost?

Fears Burden of Taxes

Has an emergency arisen to that extent that the trustees may condemn the homes and property of the people of Glendale so that Commercial street, 120 feet wide, is forced upon the taxpayers of Glendale? Is it absolutely necessary at this time and under the present conditions and high cost of material and labor to put this burden upon the homes of Glendale?

Some say it will bring business to Glendale. Will it bring business enough to a few merchants to compensate for the added burden upon the homes of Glendale?

Many homes already are burdened for all the property will safely carry, and, with taxes growing yearly, is it good business policy for a city to go the limit of bond issue? Other improvements more important than a Commercial street must come soon. A sewer system for Glendale is a coming necessity and it must be met soon.

Glendale is known far and wide as a city of homes and has nobly responded in voting bonds to provide schools and buildings for her growing demands, knowing full well that upon the education and intelligence of her people rests human liberty. But when a people are burdened with taxes that are not absolutely necessary it becomes slavery.

Some Living in Garages

Will a Commercial street, 120 feet wide, in that section of Glendale, bring peace and contentment to its people who are now building and trying to make a home here and some are living in garages for shelter until such a time comes to build larger and better. Will a few hundred thousand dollars in taxes hurry that glad day?

If the trustees of the city of Glendale cannot give some estimate of this improvement, there is one man that certainly will. He is one of those "I Will" workers. Along about the glad Christmas time he may send notice reading, "Your taxes of a few hundred thousand dollars are due at a certain time with penalty attached."

Will they do it? Dare they do it?

PLAN CONTEST

AWARD TO BE MADE FOR BEST DESIGN SUBMITTED FLOAT COMMITTEE

Evening News office with regularity, night and day.

The Evening News had hardly gone to press yesterday before H. L. Miller, the realty man, came into the office with a check in his hand for $10.

"For the float fund," explained Mr. Miller, as he presented the check. "Great thing for Glendale."

"Don't leave me out on that float fund," said Mattison B. Jones, the well-known attorney, when he came into The Evening News office last night and subscribed $10. "You're doing good work and we'll capture that prize again this time. The advertising that Glendale gets is worth the money and the effort."

Many Boosters Give Real Support

Henry A. Michel, the contractor and builder of 805 North Central avenue, came into The Evening News office this morning bearing a check for $5.

"My bit toward the float," he said. "Glad to help such a fine project along."

As was plainly pointed out in The Evening News last night, the kind of a display Glendale makes at the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena depends upon the amount of money the people of the city subscribe.

Therefore, if the people of Glendale do not give liberally, the float will reflect that; it will be a cheap affair and look funny—or pitiful—beside the magnificent floats entered by other communities.

If the people of Glendale give liberally, the committee guarantees to present a prize-winning float, a float that will reflect great credit upon the city and its residents.

The campaign to secure the fund to finance the float will be closed shortly; it is vital that your subscription be sent in at once. Just remember this as you write the check: Glendale's float in the Tournament of Roses will be just as attractive as you wish to make it—and the total of the fund subscribed will determine how good the float is to be.

The Evening News is receiving the checks; make them payable to R. F. Kitterman, who is the chairman of the committee in charge. Every subscription will be acknowledged in The Evening News in due course of time.

A conviction has been obtained under the new Pennsylvania law which makes it a misdemeanor to issue a check when there are not sufficient funds credited to the account to pay it.

EXPERT ADVICE

state, when a child, girl or boy, is raised to think he need not work."

Mrs. Hamilton advises the parents to talk over the finances with the children, and if things are not going the most prosperously, let them know, that they may share in the sacrifices as well as the joys. She thinks the girls are marrying with insufficient knowledge regarding the real responsibilities of the home, and that this is one of the main causes of the present wave of domestic inharmony.

Giving Words of Praise

Then she touched upon the great thought of giving words of praise and appreciation to the child, encouraging him in well-doing.

Mrs. Hamilton closed her address with a plea that the parents visit the schools and attend the P.-T. A. After a short discussion by Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Kille, Mrs. Kulp and others, a rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Hamilton for her instructive suggestions.

Miss Agnes Brown, daughter of the president, followed the lecturer with the saxaphone solo, "Valse Erica," pleasingly rendered. She was accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. H. V. Brown.

The ladies are interested in a benefit entertainment soon to be offered the public, of which more information will be given at the February meeting.

Philanthropy is one of the main features of interest in the P.-T. A. and a donation was made by the association to the Juvenile court work.

Mrs. Laura Kille reported a great supply of needful things for the Thanksgiving season, the parents and pupils having responded liberally to the appeal made at that time, and gratitude was expressed to all who helped, especially the boys who assisted in distribution of the gifts.

After adjournment of the business session, a short time was spent socially, the ladies partaking of dainty refreshments, served by Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Hoyt, Mrs. Kulp and the domestic science instructor, Miss Taylor.

A pneumatic planer has been developed which displaces six or eight men on ship and car building.

VITAL DEFECT

REV. W. E. EDMONDS TALKS ON IMPORTANT SUBJECT AT CHURCH ON SUNDAY

The morning sermon last Sunday at the Presbyterian church, by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, was preluded by reading the narrative from the prophecy of Ezekiel of the vision given the prophet of a valley filled with dry human bones. (Ch. 37) Upon these dry bones the Spirit of the Lord began to work restoration to forms like life. But as yet, "There was no breath in them." A brief outline of the sermon follows:

"Israel was at that time in a seemingly hopeless spiritual state, like the valley of dry bones. But by inspiration the heart of the prophet was filled with hope, for in the vision breath from heaven entered those lifeless forms, and they stood up a great army. The secret of power was The Breath.

"The story suggests that many things have a sad defect: there is no breath in them. A good place to begin is the pulpit. The pulpit's calling is a sacred thing; it is from God. When God has called, the called one is responsible only to God. The business of preaching is dependent upon supernatural power; men cannot be lifted without the Spirit of God. From the laity comes the criticism; the ministry's defect is, lack of breath, life. Never was the ministry more cultured; there are magnificent pulpit productions. But there has come in a questioning and disputing of God and His word; from the pulpit are given out all sorts of things that are not from God. The minister's responsibility is to give out only the word of the Lord. Come, breathe upon these ministers, and put life into them!

Lack of Prayer Life

"Now we touch the pew. One of its breath lacks is prayer life. It is told that there are people who pray and receive answers; that their prayers change things; that they ask and obtain God's miraculous help in their needs of soul and of body. And yet the most unpopular place is a prayer-meeting! Lacking prayer-breath, you cannot expect power. Everywhere the need is for people who are truly pray-ers.

"And this lack of spiritual breath concerns the music of the church. Music should be pre-eminently an act of worship. Never was so much attention given to it as now and often it over-tops the preaching. The singing should be a means of worship by which the soul rises to God. Think of the godly hymn writers and singers. But often godless musicians are brought into the church. They do not belong there. In many churches prayer is needed to put spirit into dead musicians.

"Lack of the breath of life may be in the official list of the church. Great danger besets those who carry the duties of the church lest they become filled with care of the material things which necessarily rest upon them. Always is it the case that spiritual high tide is accompanied by high tide of the material as well.

"Lack of the vital breath may be all through the membership. There may be careless lives as of worldlings. Would you say their need is conversion? They have form and shape but no breath. How many there are who know nothing in their own experience of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit, and their lives are of the world.

"Organism is needed, yes. But organism is never going to get you anywhere, save as it is an inbreathed organism. Forms and ceremonies accomplish real ends when the Spirit of God makes use of them. So should we not cry, 'Come, oh breath from the four winds, and breathe upon the dead that they may live.'

Obedience Is Best Testimony

"Is there anything practical about this? Yes, the word 'power' makes it practical. There was a christian business man who was very successful, always making more money. But he was deeply troubled because he felt he was spiritually barren; and he vowed before God that at any cost he would seek the power of the Holy Spirit for service. In his dream one night he heard the crying of a child. An angel tapped at his door and said, 'Do you not hear a child crying out in the night?' 'Yes, but I can't do anything till I am filled with the Spirit.' After a while another knock; the same question and answer. 'But,' said the Master, 'Go and relieve the child's need, and in this service you shall know what the infilling of the Holy Spirit is.' Obedience to every known command is the best testimony to a Spirit-filled life. This experience is not for only a chosen few; in brief, it is a willing purpose to let God have His own way in every walk of life. Obedience it is which will procure you power. As you go you will be breathed upon by the Spirit. Give God a chance, and you will be made a blessing. And you will have the joy of knowing that through your spirit-filled life others have been blessed."

NATIONAL GUARDS

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN SOON TO START TO GET COMPANY FOR THIS CITY

An intensive campaign will be inaugurated soon to get members for the Glendale company of the California National Guard regiment and as a great deal of enthusiasm is being shown the company ought to reach its full strength, which is sixty-five, in a very few days after applications are accepted. The age limit is 18 to 45.

The world war, when it was necessary to send young men into the line without any great amount of training, ought to convince all of the necessity for proper training in times of peace. Assurance is given that the officers of the company will be men from Glendale who will guard the welfare of the men both morally and physically. The high school ought to furnish quite a few, for the Polytechnic high of Los Angeles has furnished a complete company, and parents of young men should urge their sons to join. Enlistments can be made for either one or three years.

Burbank has already organized a company and Pasadena is starting, so it is up to Glendale to get busy.

Attend Dances and Banquets

As the Glendale company will be part of the regiment which will occupy the state armory at Exposition park in Los Angeles it will have full rights to attend the bi-monthly dances given there. Banquets and entertainments which will be given frequently can also be attended. The dining room will seat at one time two battalions. They also can use the finely equipped gymnasium and athletic field, and attend rifle practice under competent instructors at either the rifle range near Glendale or the indoor range at the armory.

Joining the company gives one membership in an organization having the same equipment, and drill that the regular army has, the only difference being the amount of time to devote to military duties. This is one club to which one can belong and receive numerous benefits without paying any initiation fee or dues; in fact, one will get paid for all drills attended and pay with all expenses during the summer encampment.

A recruiting office to secure the Glendale company will be opened soon in the business district. In the meantime, those desiring to join may signify their intention at the office of The Evening News or at 127 North Glendale avenue, telephone 1422-J. Quick action is deemed necessary to secure the company for Glendale.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

"Not what we give, but what we share; for the gift without the giver is bare" seems to be the motto of the Junior Sunday school department of the Christian church; for at their Christmas party to be held in the Sunday school rooms this afternoon from 3 to 5 they will enjoy as the chief pastime of the day the making of scrap books to be sent to the little sufferers in the Children's hospital at Los Angeles.

It's lots o' fun to make scrap books—and it's lots o' comfort to a poor, little, sick child to have one to look at; one that's just the right size, not too heavy for weak little hands to hold, and full of bright-colored pictures that one can make up stories about and forget one's pain the while.

These kindly young people have also made game boards and dressed dolls for a Christmas box to be sent to an orphans' home maintained by the Christian church.

LAND SEIZURES

In Sicily I visited several of the occupied estates in widely separated parts of the island. The thing which most impressed me was calm and lack of violence. The peasants were confident of their strength and their eventual victory.

When I told the prefect of Palermo I contemplated visiting the interior of the island I was advised to take a police guard. "You may be shot at. You are taking chances," I was told.

Work Is Orderly

I would not have wanted a quieter trip. There was to be no excitement. The work on all the estates proceeded in an orderly manner. Crops were being harvested and stored in the large barns of the various estates to await the settlement of the discussions between peasants and owners. In no part of the island was there a case of sabotage.

The peasants were frank in their demands, and to an outsider they seemed extremely modest, coming from a group which had been characterized to me as bolshevik. The peasants don't want the ownership of the land unless they are able to pay for it and the owners willing to sell. They would rather operate on a basis of rental—a fair rental which will give them a sufficient margin for decent living, bringing up their families, and putting aside a little money against a rainy day.

60,000 Acres Taken

It was difficult to obtain a correct estimate of the acreage involved or the number of peasants who took part in land seizures. In the province of Trapani alone 60,000 acres were in hands of contadini (working peasants) and combattenti (returned soldiers) during the occupations. A similar figure was given on as extensive a scale. No province was free from trouble. From Trapani on the west to Messina on the east, from Palermo to Syracuse, the contadini marched on to the great feudal estates and took possession.

There were two distinct movements, one legal and the other entirely outside existing laws. Some months ago a decree was issued in Rome called the vissochi which permits the occupation of land badly cultivated and not producing its maximum. Shortly after a second decree, called the falcione, was passed, which created a commission in every province of Italy, with the intendent of finance as its chairman, to inquire into the justice of the occupations. It is formed of five members, two working peasants and two great landlords, in addition to the chairman.

Legal Seizures Made

Under these two decrees contadini and combattenti first took over several large estates on the western border of the island, which undoubtedly came within the decrees. It was not long until all uncultivated land had been occupied. Then commenced the second and more serious phase. The gabelotti (middlemen who rent from the owners and subrent to the peasants) chose this time for dispossessing peasants who had been renting from landlords direct under an agreement which expired on August 31. The result was immediate occupation of cultivated estates, including those in question.

Then came the occupation of factories by Italian workingmen, and the Sicilian peasant saw his way clear, when it became apparent that the government would not drive them out, to adopt the same methods in his battle with the middleman.

Cutivated Estates Seized

The first cultivated estates to be occupied were those of feudal holdings at Ribera, a town near the southern coast, due south of Palermo. This was done the third week in September, and by the first of October hardly a large estate on the island remained in its owner's hands.

Owners and peasants unite in declaring there was no sabotage on the part of the occupiers nor any violence. The owners made no attempts to protect their property and the peasants marched out to the estates unarmed, except in a few isolated cases. As the sentiment of a peasant group was Socialist or Nationalist it carried at its head red flags of the national banner. On one occasion at Boccadifalco a procession of several thousand contadini was preceded by two peasant lads bearing olive branches.

The rubber trade of the British Isles has lodged a protest with the government against the increasing importation of American tires.

The Australian government handles all grain, storing it, making export sales and chartering ships. The only charges assessed against the farmer will be the government's actual expenses. There will be no middleman's profit.

MANAGER OF FRUIT EXCHANGE TELLS LEGISLATORS WHAT INDUSTRY REQUIRES

There are only three possible sources of relief for the California lemon growers, according to G. Harold Powell, general manager for the California Fruit Growers exchange, who was at Riverside recently with other members of a special committee appointed by Charles C. Teague, president of the state agricultural legislative council.

Present conditions can be met only by an increase in duty to overcome the present low rate of exchange, which works greatly to the advantage of the Italian importer; ultimate reduction in freight rates, or a decrease in the cost of production, said Mr. Powell.

Reference was made by Mr. Powell to the burden imposed on the grower by the increase in freight rates, first advanced 25 per cent and later 33 per cent, and to the fact that Italian lemons can be sold in this country at a price below the cost of harvesting the California product.

The market for California oranges was said to be good, but Mr. Powell would venture no statement as to the probable shipments the coming season.

LONG BEACH TOURISTS WILL NOT HAVE TO PAY TO SIT ON PARK BENCHES

There will be no "pay as you sit" chairs in the Long Beach parks, on the pier or any other place in the city, it was decided by a 4 to 1 vote by the city commissioners of the beach city.

The advanced cost of sitting down was explained by an agent for the chair company, but Harry B. Riley, commissioner of finance and accounting, objected immediately on the grounds that it would be exceedingly poor advertising for the city if it became known that it cost a nickel to recline at ease for a few minutes on the pier, in the parks or elsewhere.

J. D. Seerie, public works commissioner, favored the plan as outlined by the coin slot chair representative. He said he thought many people would be glad to pay 5 cents for a comfortable chair on the pier or the beach. Commissioner Seerie was the only solon to vote to grant the concession when the proposition came up for action. It was voted down, 4 to 1.

It was proposed to place 500 of the chairs in various public places in Long Beach. It was reported that the nickel in the slot toilets that already exist in Long Beach in many places are not in any too good graces of the tourists or residents and that was one reason the application for the proposed public pay seats was rejected by the municipal dads.

The average total authorized capital of new enterprises formed in the United States prior to 1919 was approximately $2,000,000,000 a year. The total authorized capital of enterprises launched during 1919 amounted to $12,677,000,000 and the capital issues of 1920 have thus far exceeded those of 1919. The change in money values is responsible for much of the increase.

HELPS CAPTURE

MADISON, Wis.—The part played by Wisconsin soldiers in the capture of Jefferson Davis, president of the southern confederacy, is brought to light in an old publication containing a statement written by Gen. Henry Harnden, a Wisconsin man, who had much to do with the capture. It is a significant fact of historic interest to Wisconsin that Jefferson Davis should have spent his early life in old Fort Winnebago (now Portage), that he should have married the daughter of Zachary Taylor, later president, while a military officer in Wisconsin, and that a Wisconsin regiment should play the leading role in the capture of Davis at the close of the Civil war.

Much to the credit for this capture goes to General Harnden, who came from Massachusetts to Wisconsin in 1852, settling at Sullivan, Jefferson county, where he became a farmer and operated a steam saw mill. Before the Civil war, General Harnden held several town offices, such as treasurer and justice of the peace, and after the war he served as a member of the legislature, United States ambassador and United States collector of internal revenue. In his later life his home was at Madison.

Gets Orders for Chase

"Toward the evening of May 6, 1865," says General Harnden in his story, "when we were encamped about a mile north of Macon, Ga., I received orders to report to division headquarters. I mounted my horse and rode over, there finding General John T. Croxton in command. The general informed me that it was reported that Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, was in South Carolina, making his way south into Georgia; that a portion of his cabinet were with him, and that they were accompanied by 600 or 700 men; that I had been selected to command a detachment of 150 men from the First Wisconsin cavalry, to endeavor to cut him off and capture him if possible. He said we must start immediately and not wait for rations—adding, as I left him, that if there was a fight, and Jefferson Davis should get hurt, General Wilson would not feel very bad over it.

"I then returned to the camp of my regiment and soon had a detail of 150 men selected, all well armed and mounted. We proceeded through Macon and crossed the bridge over the Ochmulgee river and then took a line of march toward Savannah. General Croxton had furnished me with a large map of Georgia, so that I was able to shape my course correctly. Several regiments were sent off in different directions to intercept Davis after we had started."

Clew From a Little Girl

General Harnden then gives a detailed story of the advance through the south.

"It was very dark, and the roads in the pine woods were only trails," continued General Harnden. "We soon became confused and after wandering around for some time we found ourselves coming into Dublin again. Picking our road once more and daylight coming (May 8) we struck out on the river road at a rapid gait. Five miles out, we came to Turkey Creek, where we found the bridge torn up. While this was being repaired I strolled up to a log house nearby and questioned the woman whom I found there in regard to the party who had crossed the evening before. She said a large party had passed, but she did not know who they were. Two of the gentlemen had been in her house and drank some milk, and she showed me a scrap of paper which she said they had dropped. I saw it was a piece of a Richmond newspaper of recent date.

"A bright little girl standing by said she had heard one gentleman call the other 'Colonel Harrison,' and the other was addressed as 'Mr. President.' Upon my inquiring as to how they were dressed, she said they were 'almost as handsomely dressed as I was, but their coats were not alike.' Pointing to my shoulder straps, I inquired if they had such things on their coats. She replied no, but one of them had stars on his collar and gold on his sleeves, while the other had plain clothes. The child's description convinced me that one was an officer of high rank and the other Jefferson Davis.

"May 9, as soon as it was light enough to see, we pushed on in a southeast direction until we struck the Ochmulgee. In our haste to get over the ferry boat was damaged so that only half a load of horses could be taken over at a time. Before the break of day (May 10) we were again in the saddle.

Recklessly Fired Upon

"Hearing that a party with wagons was camped a short distance from the town, Colonel Pritchard had marched out toward it, guided by a negro. He had sent twenty-five men around to the back of the camp, and it was these men, who, mistaking us for enemies, fired upon us recklessly.

"In this unfortunate affair two of the Michigan men were killed, and one officer and several men wounded. Of the Wisconsin men, three were wounded, but none killed. We lost a number of horses. I attribute our slight loss to the darkness and to the fact that we were on lower ground than our opponents; they overshot us.

"Colonel Pritchard and I rode together into Davis' camp, which was just a few rods from where our skirmish took place. The first person we saw there was John H. Reagan, postmaster-general of the confederacy, later United States senator from Texas, who said to me, 'Well, you have taken the old gentleman at last!'

"'Who do you mean?'

"'I mean President Davis.'

"'Please point him out.'

"'There he stands,' said Reagan, pointing to a tall, elderly and rather dignified looking gentleman, standing a short distance away.

"We rode up, dismounted, saluted, and I asked if this was Mr. Davis. 'Yes,' he said. 'I am President Davis.'

"One soldier said, 'What! That man Jeff Davis? That's the old fellow who, when I stopped him, had his wife's shawl on.'"

WRONG PRICE

MISTAKE IN CHAFFEE'S AD IN REGARD TO SELLING PRICE ON BOX OF ORANGES

The Chaffee store in Glendale is not giving oranges away, although the store's advertisement in The Evening News last night made it appear to be doing so—almost.

The advertisement read that Sunkissed oranges, California's choicest oranges, in a small shipping box, twelve to a box, were offered at 30 cents. Even with prices coming down and with the great Chaffee organization ever ready to give the public the first reductions, the choice oranges could not be priced at that figure. Instead, the advertisement should have read 80 cents a box. And at 80 cents the oranges are a real bargain, just the thing to send away to friends in the east. The wrong price in The Evening News last night was a typographical error, for which, it happens, the paper was not responsible.

Birds of Paradise in Abundance, He Says

LONDON.—Wilfred Frost, the zoological society's collector who returned from the Malay Archipelago, reports that king birds of paradise are extremely abundant and show no signs of dimunition in numbers.

Their habits are very different. He has never been able to see the nests of the king birds. Each male selects an individual tree as his home and pugnaciously attacks any other male which comes near him. In this respect they are like robins, every bird defending its own little area of woodland against intruders. They appear to prefer the vicinity of human dwellings. The greater bird of paradise is more gregarious and lives further from mankind. The nests are large and conspicuous.

The brilliant yellow plumes, coveted by the millinery trade, are not acquired until the sixth or seventh year. Mr. Frost says that he has never seen a male in full plumage breeding with the hen bird. The males associated with hens and young were always in immature plumage of the second, third, fourth or fifth year, each of which could be distinguished. He regards the elaborate decoration as a sign of senility.

These observations, apart from their economic interest, suggest that even if the original bright colors were acquired by a process of selection the natural process has outrun the utility which initiated it. In the same way protective armor and the development of horns or antlers and other weapons seem occasionally to have been carried to an extreme which was actually disadvantageous to the possessors.

English scientists have decided that passing electricity through freshly cut timber makes it more resistant against decay and fungus growth.

Think of the Eastern Folks

Here in California we can pick the fresh fruits, nuts and goodly products of the west, but in the cold land of the east they are not so blessed with the winter sunshine and the products it brings. So send gifts to the eastern folks that are representative of this grand and glorious homeland.
